SEWING CLASS TO MEET

The Advanced Sewing Class sponsored by the Extension Group will be held this evening (Thursday) at 7 o'clock at Telstar High School.

FIRST GRADE PARENTS RETURN TO SCHOOL

Last Wednesday evening, the parents of first graders at the Ethel Blasee School went back to school. They were invited by the two first grade teachers, Mrs. Mary Jane Gaudreau and Mrs. Caroline Gould, to become familiar with the type of day their child spends in school.

Mrs. Gould explained the daily morning program including reading and how the child progresses in reading. The Houghton-Mifflin program is used for reading in the district schools.

Mrs. Gaudreau explained the afternoon program including story time, mathematics, music, art, social studies and science. The first graders will be taking several trips this year in connection with science and social studies.

After a short "recess" of coffee, cookies and brownies provided by the two teachers, the parents had an opportunity to ask any questions about their child's life at school.

Some of the parents' comments were: "a rewarding experience"; "I appreciate the interest of the two first grade teachers for taking the time to prepare and present this program"; "I understand a lot more about what my child is doing at school"; "Creates better understanding between parents and teacher"; "A most interesting and instructive evening"; "I now have a better idea of what goes on throughout the school year."

Many parents were unable to attend but those who did enjoyed the evening. Besides the 33 parents present, Ralph Ryder, Roger Spugnardi, Allen Messer and Leonard Brooks also attended.

DISTRICT 4 DIRECTORS TO MEET MONDAY EVENING AT TELSTAR HIGH SCHOOL

The board of directors of S. A. D. 44 will meet in regular session on Monday evening, Dec. 15, at Telstar Regional High School. The 7:30 session is scheduled to be held in the school's cafeteria.

Action is contemplated on a staff resignation and on a staff nomination. Requests for sabbatical leave during 1970-71 school year and a leave of absence will require a decision by the board.

Second readings of policies regarding educational trips and married students are slated. These policies were given preliminary approval at the Dec. 1 meeting. Action is to be requested on a proposed district policy concerning school attendance by pregnant high school students.

Discussion and possible action is scheduled on a proposed in-service program for board members.

A report is scheduled from the board's committee on salary discussions with administrators. Also reports are contemplated from the Building, Elementary Education and Finance Committees.

There will be a report from Dave Denison, Adult Education program director and the board members selected to discuss the Adult Education program with him.

Another agenda item will be a request for a special Directors meeting to be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 17, at Telstar, to include a discussion of the 1970 budget with the administration.

On the agenda for discussion and possible action are two re-appointment items: one in terms of the amount of money assessed from each town; and the other regarding the number of directors from each District town.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

As of Dec. 1, the 1969 taxes were approximately 50% uncollected. This is normal as we always expect heavy payments the last two weeks of December.

There are several who may be unaware they still owe a personal property tax because their mortgage holder pays the real estate tax and the owner supposes all taxes are paid. This can be checked by contacting the office. In some instances the mortgage holder does pay all the taxes.

A preliminary budget will be presented to the Selectmen at the next meeting of the board. There does not appear to be any large increase in local expenditures indicated at this time. Some accounts will have to be increased while others can decrease. Every attempt will be made to prevent a larger overall budget than last year.

Although we do not have snow it should be remembered that the winter regulations pertaining to leaving automobiles on the streets overnight went into effect Nov. 1.

Firemen may pick up their checks at the office until noon, Friday, Dec. 12. We will mail those not picked up.

SENIOR CITIZENS HONORED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Senior Citizens were given a special party on Tuesday evening. The courtesies of transportation, escort, an old fashioned box supper and a program of excellence were enjoyed.

Mrs. Florence Bond and Blaine Moores greeted the arriving guests in Garland Chapel before a blazing fireplace. A brimming punch bowl and a native fir tree decorated by Mrs. James Fiske and Mrs. Leland Brown gave a festive air.

Each guest was given a handsome Down East wall calendar by the Chamber of Commerce. Pilgrim Fellowship members directed by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mason provided usher and waiter service.

Following a bounteous and informal supper gifts were exchanged. Under the direction of Mrs. John Tebbets a rousing chorus of young voices from Telstar High School treated the responsive Seniors to Christmas hymns and old English carols.

Chorus and dance members from Susan Farrars School of Dance presented a group of artistic numbers done with grace and beauty.

NOTICE TO SNOWMOBILE OWNERS

Once again the ski coaches at Gould Academy earnestly request that all snowmobiles be kept off the Gould Academy cross country ski trails until March 1, 1970. These trails are located in the Mill Brook Valley behind Gould (the Lower Athletic Fields) and across "Lover's Lane" in the woods surrounding the hill called "Devil's Kitchen". These trails must be maintained with a special track for proper cross country ski technique and racing.

The trails are clearly marked with red and/or blue paint blazes. Anyone interested in using these trails for cross country ski touring are urged to do so and the Gould coaches would be glad to assist anyone interested in Nordic skiing.

ATHLETIC BOOSTERS MEET JUNIOR BASKETBALL DISCUSSED

The Telstar Athletic Boosters met Wednesday evening in the lecture room at the high school. There was a discussion of the purchase of matting to put on the walls behind each basket, in the gymnasium to cover the outlets. Prices and choices will be presented at next week's meeting. A junior athletic program was discussed. It was decided to have a meeting next week to discuss the possibilities of a basketball program. Anyone interested in a district junior basketball program sponsored by the Boosters is asked to attend. Adult interest in this program is essential. Remember—next Wednesday, Dec. 17, 7:45, in the lecture room, Telstar Regional High School.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY DECIDES TO INCORPORATE AT DEC. 4 MEETING

A most enjoyable meeting of the Bethel Historical Society was held at the Casco Bank meeting room on Thursday evening, Dec. 4.

The members voted to accept the recommendation of the committee, chaired by Edward Quinn, to study whether or not to incorporate. The unanimous recommendation and vote is for incorporation, details of which will be worked out as soon as possible by the same committee.

Faye Taylor, treasurer, reported that the Memorial Fund for Eva Bean now totalled $750 with gifts still arriving.

Yards of pennies have been given by the following: Belle Hamlin, two yards; Eugenia Haselton, two yards; Susan Brown, one yard; eight yards given anonymously; Evelyn Bennett, two yards; Guy Parker family, nine yards; Mary Calderwood, five yards.

Mrs. Doris Lord of the program committee read a most interesting paper entitled "Grover Hill Memories" covering the period from 1863 to 1890 and written by Miss Gwen-dolyn Stearns of Augusta formerly of Grover Hill. It was agreed that this paper should be a part of the updated version of the Bethel History which the Society eventually hopes to produce.

Each person present brought to this meeting some article or recipe which might have been used in olden days for holiday preparations—from cutting fireplace wood, to meal preparation. These were described and examined with much interest, and included such things as a broad axe, a fluting iron (for millday's ruffles), a charcoal burning iron, candle molds, maple sugar molds, wool card and shuttle, pie lifter, nutmeg grater, whole nutmegs, recipe for historical cake requiring among other things forty eggs! Also a cookbook called the American Frugal Housewife published by Shattuck in Boston in 1836, and used by Mrs. Moses Mason, wife of Dr. Moses Mason, Bethel's only Congressman and first Postmaster.

President John T. Grover suggested that since these aroused so much interest that members might bring treasures to any meeting to show and describe, thus graphically revealing how our ancestors lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinn and Mrs. Bernice Noyes furnished delicious refreshments of apple pie, cookies, coffee and tea.

The next meeting is to be held at the same place Jan. 8, program to be announced later.

Donald Fraser is having a workshop constructed on his property on Tyler Street.

PLANS ARE PROGRESSING FOR LIVING NATIVITY SCENE — TO BE PRESENTED DEC. 21

The annual Living Nativity Scene will take place on the Bethel Common on Sunday, Dec. 21, with two performances this year, one at 5:00 p. m. and again at 6:00 p. m.

Community response to the call for volunteers has been most heartwarming. Al and Jane Barth are serving as co-chairmen and report that all sub-committee chairmen have been appointed. All area churches and civic organizations are again cooperating to make this unique community project another highlight of the Christmas season, not only for Bethel people but for their friends from surrounding areas.

Dale Thurston, pageant director, announces the following rehearsals for pageant participants: Sunday, Dec. 14, 2 p. m., Odeon Hall; Wednesday, Dec. 17, 6:30 p. m., Odeon Hall; Saturday, Dec. 20, 6:30 p. m., dress rehearsal on the Common.

Betty Tebbets, choir director, announces plans for a bigger and better chorus of carolers this year. Anyone in this area who enjoys singing and contributing to the beauty of the pageant may join the group by contacting Sue Bartlett. There will be only one general chorus rehearsal, which will be held on Sunday, Dec. 14, from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. in the Telstar music room.

CO-CHAIRMEN — Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Barth, who are serving as co-chairmen of this year's "Living Nativity Scene."

The following sub-committee chairmen will be assisting the co-chairmen; and anyone interested in helping in any way may contact the person in charge: Snow removal and traffic control, Pearlina McMillin; Special lighting, James Owen; Stable construction, Bill Cousins; Animals and transportation, Jim and Pat Hudson; Stable decorations, Lucia Smith, Costumes, Jeanne Thormine and Agnes Thurston; Make-up, Betty Muraz; Props, Arlene Brown; Telephone caller, Arlene Lyon; Clean-up, Harold Carver; Dinner for cast and workers, Ruth Ames; Publicity, Rosabelle Tiffit.

Again this year the committee is seeking the location of the life-size nativity figures which were lost or misplaced two years ago. They would like to continue the tradition of leaving the figures in the manger for the remainder of the Christmas season after the final pageant scene. Anyone in the area knowing where they may be stored is urged to contact Al and Jane Barth.

TO BRING CHRISTMAS CHEER —

Christmas Troupers will bring Yuletide cheer to shut-ins. On Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 17, the following children with their dance teacher, Susan Farrar, will sing and dance at three nursing homes in the area in the hopes of bringing Christmas joy to the sick and aged.

Rockin' Round the Christmas Tree: Susan MacKay, Judy Stowell, Debbie Buck, Paula Belanger and Betsy Smith. Mamma Dolls: Leslie Olson, Teri Blake, Lisa Cotton and Sheila Blake. What a Wonderful Day: Tami Reed. Go Go Go: Annemarie Saunders and Jennifer Lee. Too Fat for the Chimney: Kelly Hutchins and Janice Bailey. Santa Claus is Coming: Bob Tiffit. ## GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Correspondent —
The first of this week I was up on the hillside where I checked the spring then wandered into the groves of fir and hemlock.

There was a light sprinkling of snow in the air. Slippery, too, so I walked and climbed with caution. I had no desire to find myself down and out, and unable to venture forth for another month.

I stopped in a clearing just to look at the change.

The soft swirling snowflakes gently fell, forming a lovely counterpane of lace on the ferns and mosses. I stooped to brush these star-shaped crystals from the partridge berries and winter greens, hoping to discover some of the red berries. My treasure was only four.

I gazed through the sculptured trees toward the pond, nestled in the glistening arms of mother earth then gathered my evergreens and went home to make my wreath.

The next day dawned clear and cold with a brisk wind. But at ten o'clock Ruth arrived as planned and we set out for the deep forest, a journey we hoped all fall to do, an old log cabin in the hills to view. Packs on our backs holding cameras and lunches we were off.

We strolled along the peaceful old woodland, the crisp cold air tingling our faces.

First we viewed the old cellars, all that remain of the early settlers homes in that area.

Rusty with age were buckets and pail, about two dozen of them stacked near the walls. Used for gathering sap from the maples, perhaps? The flavor of by gone years could still be sensed in contrast to the present day.

Trees stood tall now where weary men once walled their homes. A little spring that had lost its way amid the grass and ferns probably, too, was once walled near by. Then a ladle was placed in view so that a passing stranger, tired from his days work might refresh himself.

We moved on into the deep solitude of the forest and woodland shadows. In places the traveling was rough and slippery because of ruts and ice patches. We noted rotten logs, withered leaves, rocks, cliffs, streams, trails and even the moon still high in the blue, blue sky.

At one place by the trail there was a mass of ice crystals, stalagmites, exquisite beyond belief reminding me of prismatic chandeliers. I'm sure when the sun hits them at the right angle they flame into rainbow dress and magnify their brilliant colors.

Stopping now and then to peer at the trees as they stood bare now, except for the conifers, we noticed their graceful shapes which in summer one never observes. Ruth noticed a special bend in one and wondered why it was there.

One ash went up and up with never a branch until near the top. Then it widened resembling a feather duster; all branches reaching to the sky and loaded with seeds shaped like puddles—very eye catching against the cloudless blue. According to Germanic mythology such a tree is the world; the gods live in the crown, the gnomes among the roots, the people in between.

The oaks, thick through are easy to follow with the eye from the base to the tip. Branches start low, reaching up broad and all forming a vast rounded dome.

Maples somewhat resemble the oak but with less spread, perhaps.

The birches graceful and tall were the brides gathered in groups, so beautiful in their gowns of white. Trees, sturdy and ancient, graceful and lovely standing here in tranquility.

In the background were the mother mountains shawled in fir and pine standing guard over baby hills snug and tender with vibrant life.

After an hour's time we reached our goal, the log cabin situated in the dimple of a hill, trackless snow around it. This was built in 1941 by Ruth's brother, my brother, and my husband. Still firm on the outside but broken hearted and sad within; windows broken, shelves down, and stove rusted. But my picture of it is back in '41 when I stayed there for a time; cozy, comfortable, and sturdy. It sheltered us from the nippy zero air, ice, and stinging winds.

We looked at the river water, so clear we could see every stone, flowing by the snow capped rocks here and there. Another view of my Sanborn rising back here on Round Mountain, laughing down my valley to Hicks' Pond.

Not satisfied to stop yet we continued on for a short distance before turning back toward home.

It was now nearing lunch time so we looked for a spot in the sunshine and soon found it. We've both eaten banquets and such, but never in a place with a more elegant touch. To eat here in seclusion on a rock, may bring to some an unpleasant shock. But there is something about it hard to declare. This eating virtuals in the winter air.

While pines lifted their giant arms as they conducted the symphony we gathered our memories and sorted them as we ate.

It was nice to recall joys of years gone by and to fill the air with laughter or a sigh. Our reflections were two fold; some of the new, and some of the old.

Our journeys end came much too soon but we will recall again and again: Long winding trails we know so well, soft flickering shadows, and hushed silence in the beauty of the hills.

Prelim.: Lisbon 65, Telstar 30 (JV)

JAY HIGH, 44-38
Jay High School's basketball team picked up its first decision of the young season Tuesday night by turn-back Telstar Regional High School on the winner's court, 44 to 38, in a Mountain Conference duel. The Tigers lost their first two conference outings and the loss was the third straight for the visitors.

Jay turned the trick with a 15-6 spread in the final eight minutes as Barry Fuller and Terry James showed the way with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Knox and Meisner each scored ten points for Telstar. Jay swept the bill with a 58-31 verdict in the Jayvee prelim.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres.

Christmas decorations are going up all over South Woodstock. Lawn Christmas trees, window candles, Santa Claus, lit up wreaths ornate the homes. The first ones to light their tree this year were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Morgan. Colored lights make a very pleasant Christmas feeling and a glow which grows as the season advances fills everyone's heart with the Christmas spirit as they ride by these cheery homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant, Bryant Pond, called on Mr. and Mrs. Leon Verrill Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Hazel Johnson, Norway, visited her daughter, Mrs. Leon Verrill Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis went to Paris Grange meeting with Mrs. Verna Swan Saturday night. Mrs. Swan acted as chaplain on the West Paris degree team who conferred the 3rd and 4th degrees for Paris Grange and visiting candidates.

Judy Campbell spent the week end with her grandmother at West Bethel.

The children are enjoying skating on the Andrews Mill Pond this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews were in Wakefield, Mass., visiting relatives Sunday. Mrs. Andrews' mother, Mrs. Hilda Halleck, is going to Florida Wednesday to be with her sister at Orlando for the winter.

Everyone is busy with preparations for Christmas season so beyond the usual travel from town to town—store to store to select gifts for their family and friends there is very little news this week.

Ralph Dean has been discharged from the Memorial Hospital at Norway and is at his home. He is feeling much better.

thing different for our enjoyment. We are looking forward to this year hoping to make our best even better.

"Duplicate Death" by Georgette Heyer. London is the scene for a duplicate bridge party given by a social - climbing hostess on the lookout for a good match for her beautiful but dumb daughter. Suddenly the party is interrupted.

Editorial Comment

... It's What They Want ...

Much has been said, and written, during the past year about progressive or innovative secondary school curriculum, versus a more traditional approach. With the results of last spring's school district elections appearing to favor the latter, a degree of return to the traditional curriculum has been sought.

The so-called traditional system, requiring a greater degree of lock-step conformity, appears to necessitate a greater degree of some-times arbitrary discipline. As this apparently is what the majority of the district's voters desire, it seems a bit unfair to unduly criticize and vilify administrators who are carrying out the wishes of the duly-elected representatives.

But as in the case of society as a whole, education has "liberals" in its midst who see a Birchite plot behind any opposition to its programs, as well as "conservatives" who see any deviation from the traditional as a Marxist conspiracy. All extremists are cut from the same bolt of cloth, denying all philosophy but their own in the development of an "it's best because I say so" program. As many in the local area can testify, blind acceptance of a qualified "expert's" ideas can be dangerous. By the same token, programs advanced by self-appointed experts can be fatal.

These comments, as are opinions stated by others, should make no claim to objectivity, in deference to recent statements by a now nationally known coat-tail politician inferring that "establishment" spokesmen are the only ones qualified to be objective.

Sunset Rebekah Lodge will meet Monday evening, Dec. 15, with a tasting party after the meeting.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Open Letter to Telstar Regional High School Students and their Parents:

I would like my friends to know why I resigned from Telstar. I did not walk out for personal reasons; I did not "quit" because of pique or anger. By walking out I registered protest against a kind of educational philosophy and consequent administrative policy promulgated by a hierarchy devoted to false assumptions about what education is and specifically what education should be like in Bethel, Maine.

There are those in administrative positions and some teachers at Telstar who assume that students in this area are inferior academically, culturally, and socially—in a word: "hicks." They use this assumption to coerce, control, and threaten students in order to get them to learn. I find both the assumption and its consequences insulting; I also find the assumption to be false from experience.

I walked out to protest the educational policies of Telstar. These policies make the teacher's task that of policing the students, which results in rigidifying the classroom; these regulatory functions are more important to the administration than teaching. These policies create an atmosphere of dread and suspicion which seriously constrict the educational process—a process that can only occur in openness and freedom from fear.

These policies, in true authoritarian fashion, make imposing one's will

MUNDY ALLEN UNIT 81

The Mundy-Allen Unit 81 met at Legion Hall for their general monthly meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 9, at 8 o'clock. President Lucia Smith presided.

There were 15 members and officers in attendance. A short business meeting followed. The Auxiliary is to decorate the trees for the Nativity Scene on the common. The Legion will furnish the trees.

On the sick list are Fred Grover (Togus); Clayton Bane, Bill Spinney and Iola Forbes, Olive (Lurvey) Jennings, 322 South Iowa Ave., Apt. C, Lakeland, Fla. 33801. Cards are to be sent to all. It was voted to purchase an American flag. Stephanie Thurston reported that the box for Togus Gift Shop had been sent. Thirty-three boxes of cookies and candy were packed by the Auxiliary for servicemen in the States.

Refreshments and exchange of gifts followed the meeting. It will be announced later the time and place of the January meeting.

SONGO POND

— Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Corres. —
Recent callers of Ralph Kimball were John Sterling and friend of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whitney of South Casco.

Mrs. Robert Lincoln came Wednesday to spend a few days at her home here, having stayed the past few weeks with her son's family in Hingham, Mass.

It was good skating on the pond over the week end. The cold days and nights made good clear ice with no snow mixed in it.

Lawrence Kimball has employment at the Sunday River Skiway.

A bridal shower honoring Miss Judy Lapham was held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 29, at the home of Mrs. Cindy Sumner with Mrs. Elaine Jones assisting hostess. A variety of lovely gifts was received. Refreshments were served including show-er cake made by Mrs. Sumner. Guests present were Mrs. Irene Millet, Waterford; Connie Millett, Waterford; Mrs. Agnes Lahti, East Waterford; Mrs. Marion Arsenault, Norway; Mrs. Lauree Foster, South Paris; Mrs. Elizabeth Lapham, Mrs. Myrtle Keniston, Mrs. Frances Clark, Ellen Clark, Mrs. Alice Kimball, Sylvia Kimball, Mrs. Norma

Salway, Mrs. Ina Grover, Mrs. Elsie Aylward, Mrs. Grace Morrill, Mrs. Maxine Brown, Mrs. Louann Prescott, Mrs. Betty Gilbert, Mrs. Phyllis Bancroft, Mrs. Theo Morrill, Freeport. Several sent gifts who were unable to attend.

My resignation, however, is not all negative. At the same time as I protest, I am registering my beliefs in some fundamental educational principles. I am affirming my belief that the purposes of education are at least three-fold (none of which exists in that particular educational environment): (1) to free human beings instead of enslaving them or controlling them; (2) to encourage responsible action instead of forcing a particular action; and (3) finally, to uphold human dignity instead of destroying it.

This is an attempt to put my "walking out" into some kind of perspective, a perspective which may be used to evaluate what seems to be an impossible educational enterprise and a distortion of the freedom that comes from enlightenment. In short, the educational policies are an insult to the sensibilities of a community that deserves better. If my resignation—in protest and affirmation—does nothing else, I hope for the sake of the students now in school that change may come about as a result. If nothing happens, I can only re-emphasize my profound sense of sadness at the waste of human potential now masquerading as education at Telstar Regional High School.

TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Office has recently received information on the procedure for applying for financial aid at the University of Maine. The following are the steps which must be followed if you are a financial aid applicant at the University of Maine.

The Financial Aid Application — An amber colored form should be completed by the student and forwarded to the Director of Admissions by Feb. 15. These are available in the Guidance Office.

The Parents' Confidential Statement — This form is also available from the Guidance Office. Parents are encouraged to file this form with the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, N. J., no later than Jan. 15.

Students who apply to the University of Maine after February 15th and whose parents neglect to file the PCS early, stand the risk of being denied financial assistance because no scholarship, loan, or employment funds are available for the obvious reason that all funds have been awarded to students who applied prior to the deadline.

It is required that both an Application and PCS be filed at the University of Maine. No aid award can be offered unless both forms are received in the Office of Student Aid by March 1.

Lincoln Bryant Fiske has been accepted as an early decision candidate at Clark University in Worcester, Mass.

WOODSTOCK

At the Young People's meeting at Seventh-day Adventist Church on Friday evening, December 12, at 7:30, the guest speaker will be Elder Kenneth Hutchins from Portland.

Elder Hutchins is the Educational Secretary for the Northern New England Conference and is the Young People's Leader for the Conference.

The 13th Sabbath Offering this quarter will be received on December 20th instead of December 27.

The overflow offering from this Quarter will go to benefit the Southern Asian Division.

Southern Asia is not only the home of several powerful non-Christian religions, it is the birthplace of two of the most aggressive of these: namely, Hinduism and Buddhism. The views of life offered by these religions have made it extremely difficult to win people to the gospel of Christ.

Of late, however, the Spirit of God has been poured out in unprecedented measure and hundreds are accepting Christianity each year.

Projects which will benefit from this quarter's offering are: provide additional dormitory space for the students at Spicer Memorial College; modernize the Lasalgao High School; and to build new church buildings.

It is hoped that this special offering will be a real Christmas offering.
